

Mr. Coleman currently serves as the District's Interim Superintendent of Schools. He began this position on January 1, 2018. His primary responsibilities include managing the daily operation of the District and facilitating a smooth and successful transition of leadership to the new Superintendent who will begin July 1, 2018.

Prior to his retirement July 1, 2017, Mr. Coleman served as Superintendent of the Woodstown-Pilesgrove Regional School District for eight years. He also served as the Principal of Kingsway Regional High School for 15 years, and in his early career was a Teacher, Guidance Counselor, and Assistant Principal.

Mr. Coleman earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Secondary Education/Social Studies, and earned a Master of Arts degree in Student Personnel Services and a Master of Arts degree in Educational Administration at Glassboro State College (Rowan University). Mr. Coleman has enjoyed membership in many professional educational organizations and has been a speaker at NJASA Spring Conventions, New Jersey School Boards Association Conventions, and Rowan University events. Mr. Coleman was the selected the 2013-14 Salem County Superintendent of the Year.